

The Mortimer History Society Essay Prize 2018

THE PRIZE

The Trustees of the Mortimer History Society wish to announce the third round in 2018 of the annual / biennial prize of £750 called

The Mortimer History Society Essay Prize.

This will be awarded for the best essay submitted; a runners-up prize of £300 will also be awarded, and a third placed prize of £200. The winning essay, runner-up, third-placed and some of the commended ones (if any) will be published in the Journal of the Mortimer History Society (ISSN 2397-9267). The winner, the runner-up, third-placed and any other commended entrants will be awarded three years' free membership of the Society. The Society may also invite the winners and any commended entrants to present their papers at its conferences and other events.

PURPOSE

The aim of the competition is to promote and stimulate scholarly research into and popular interest in:

- the history of the medieval Mortimer family of Wigmore (and its cadet branches, eg Chirk, Chelmarsh),
- and, the Welsh Marches in the Middle Ages from 1066 to 1500.

It will also enable more people, particularly those who are perhaps aiming to write on the Welsh Marches for the first time, to submit material for The Journal of the Mortimer History Society.

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

Submissions are invited for the third round in 2018. The closing date for entries is 1st December 2018. Please contact the Essay Prize Administrators Dr Paul Dryburgh, Principal Records Specialist at the National Archives (Paul.Dryburgh@nationalarchives.gsi.gov.uk) or Philip Hume, Secretary of the Mortimer History Society (secretary@mortimerhistorysociety.org.uk) for more information. Essays will be submitted to chair@mortimerhistorysociety.org.uk. The rules are shown on the accompanying document and are also available on the Mortimer History Society website – www.mortimerhistorysociety.org.uk and click on the Essay Prize tab.

ELIGIBILITY

Essays will be accepted on:

- any aspect of the medieval Mortimer family of Wigmore (and its cadet branches, eg Chirk, Chelmarsh) and its impact on the history and culture of the British Isles, or
- any aspect relating to the history, economy, society and culture of the medieval Marches of Wales, between 1066 and 1500.

The submitted essays may, therefore, reflect any disciplinary perspective.

Applications are invited from anyone who can meet the assessment criteria set out below.

Essays must be based on original research, and should not have been previously published. The length of contributions shall not exceed 8,000 words, inclusive of footnotes, with a maximum of six illustrations. Prizes will only be awarded if the essays are considered by the judges to be of sufficiently high standard to merit an award and publication in the Society's journal.

ASSESSMENT

The assessment panel for 2018 will consist of:

Chair: Prof Chris Given-Wilson, University of St. Andrews

Prof Louise Wilkinson – Canterbury Christ Church University

Dr Ian Mortimer - The Honorary Vice-President of the MHS

Dr Paul Dryburgh – National Archives, Honorary President of the MHS, and editor of the Journal

Philip Hume – Secretary of the Mortimer History Society

The panel will judge essays based on:

- the originality of the entry.
- the author's use of source material and command of evidence;
- the author's clarity and quality of writing for an intelligent but not exclusively scholarly audience;
- the extent of the contribution to the knowledge and understanding of the medieval Mortimer family or marches of Wales;
